KENTUCKY STATE

UNIVERSITY '93-'94

400 E. Main St
Frankfort, Kentucky
40601

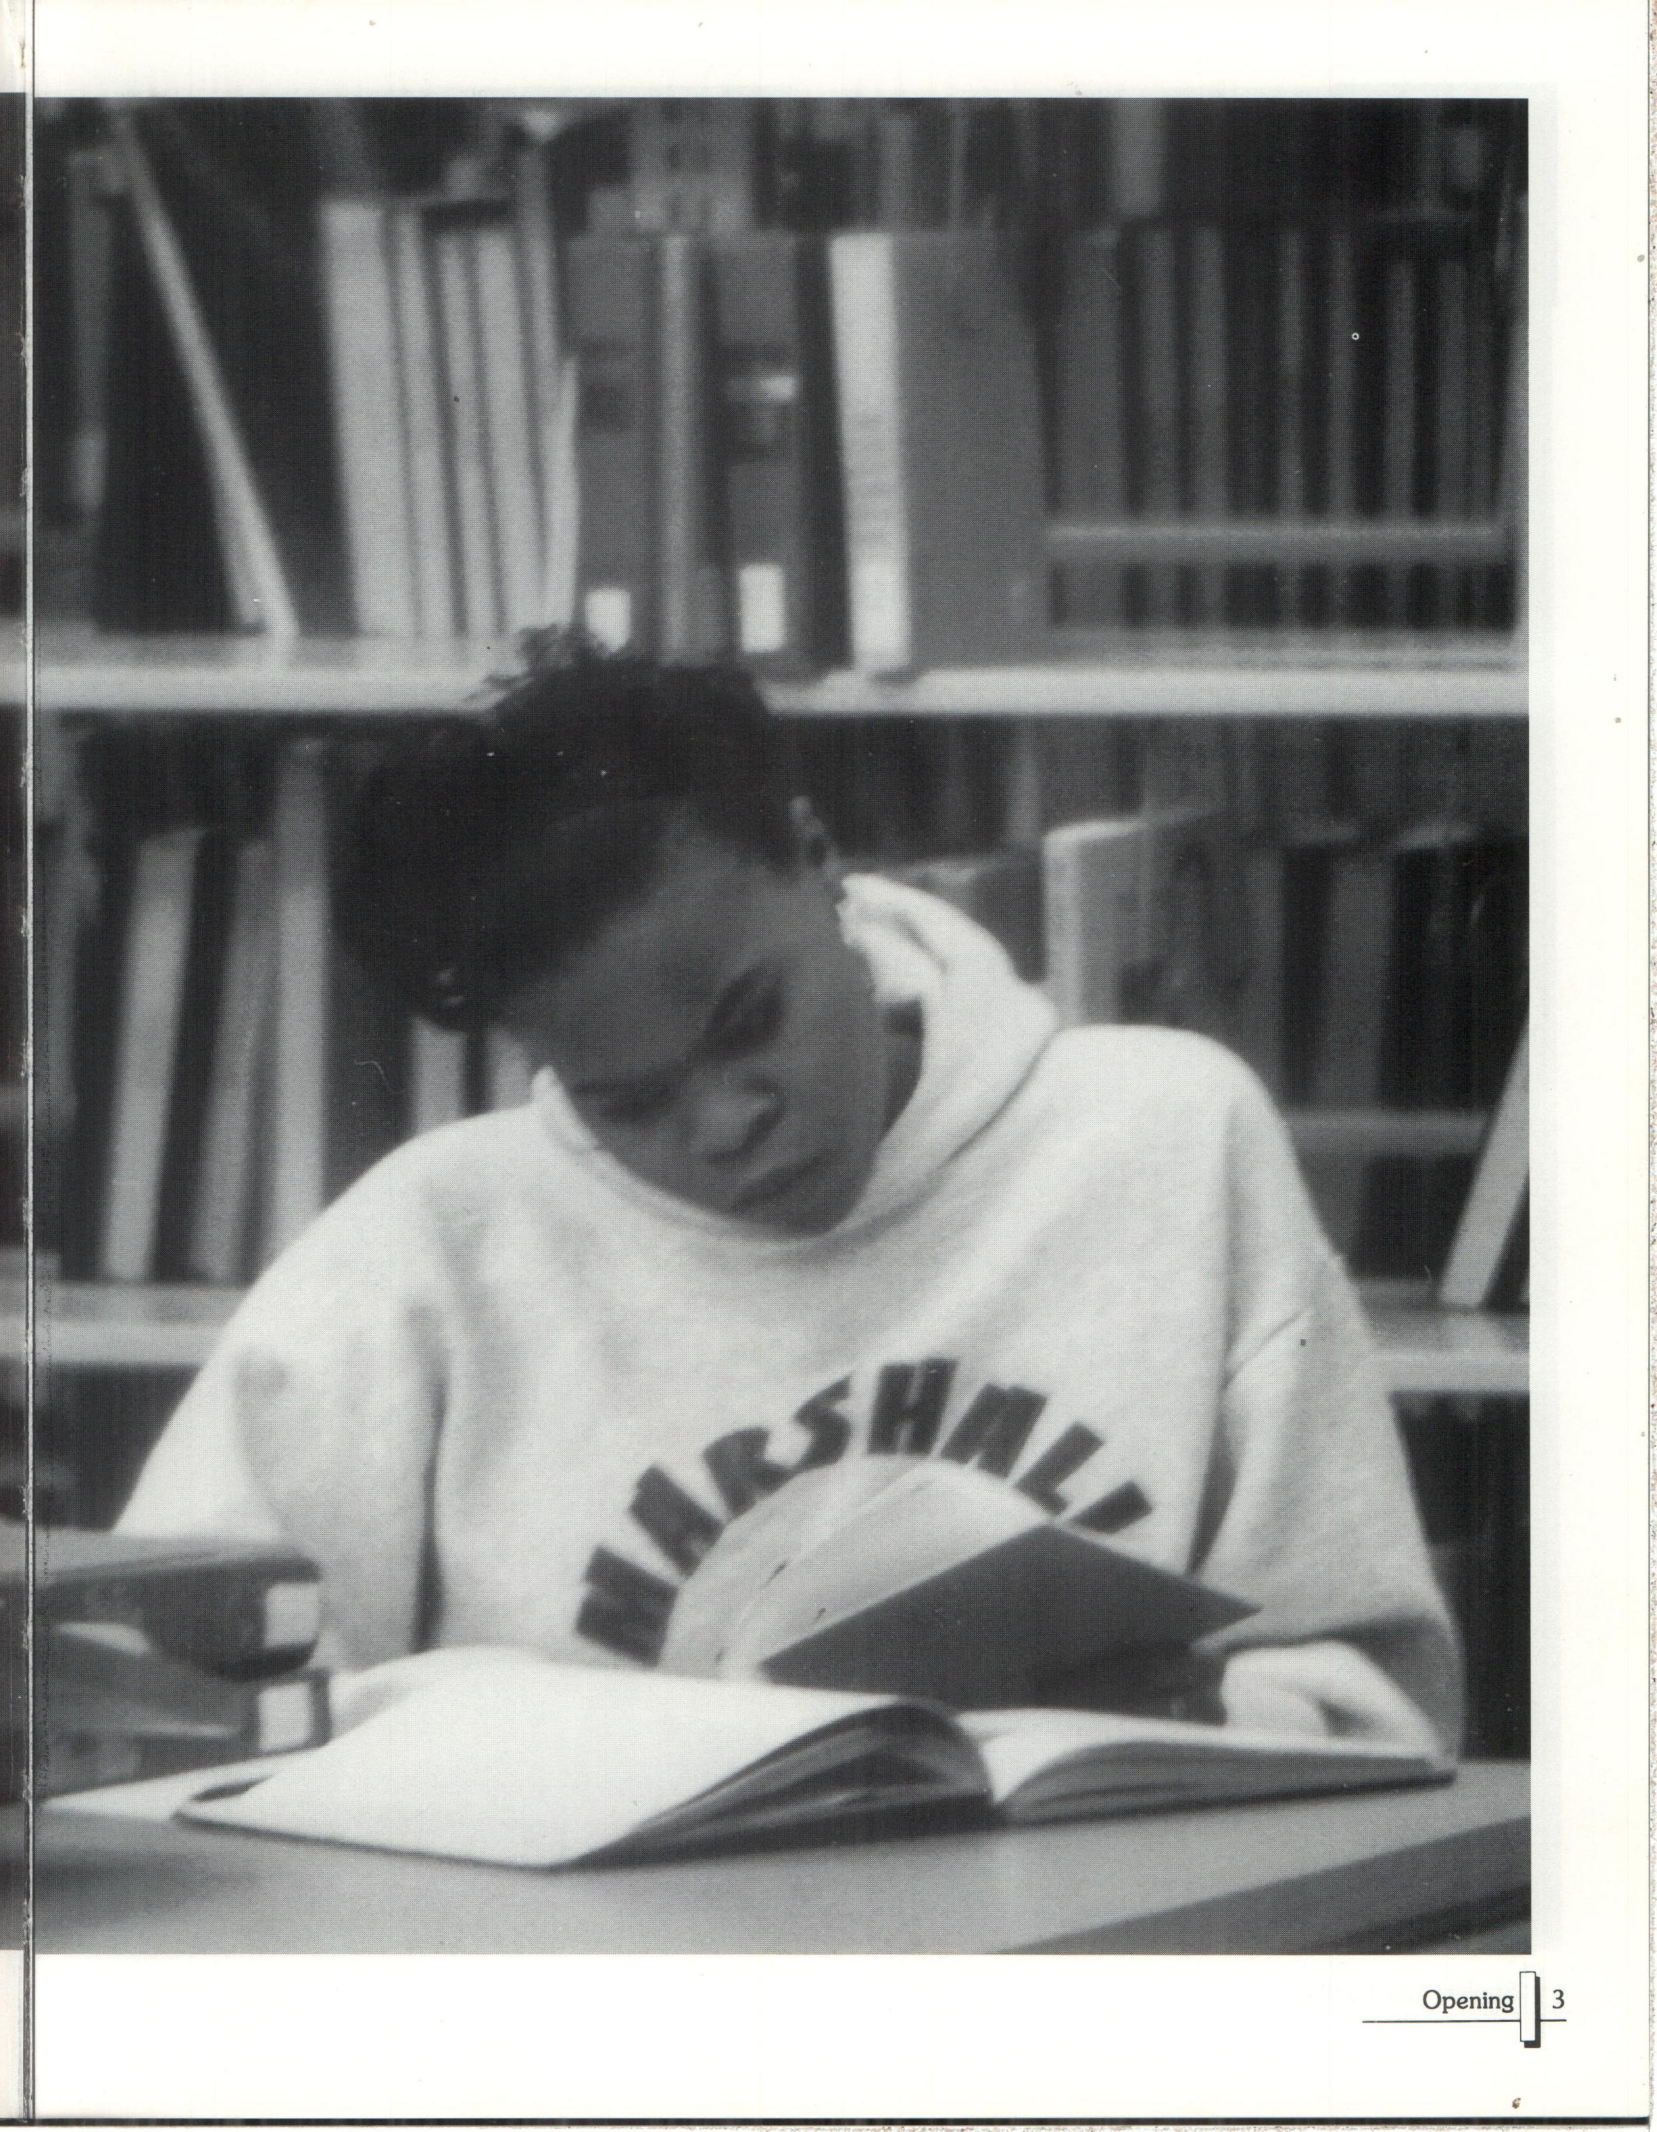

Year after Year students enter the hall of Kentucky State University with the same questions in mind. Am I making the right decisions? Is this major the right one for me? If not, what should I choose? Education, Psychology, Criminal Justice, or Nursing? No matter who the student is, the first couple of months there is nothing but confusion.

Amidst all the stress of trying to find out what paths they will proceed to take in life, the world around them is a scary and confusing place. In the 90's there are no guarantees on anything.

All throughout our lives we are faced with obstacles that we must overcome, barriers and walls to break down, although the world may look bleak, Kentucky State University students can look fate in the face and strive on with the armor of knowledge to protect them in the combat against the odds.

here is INEVITABLY always something going on on campus, whether a favorite rap artist is hanging around on campus, or homecoming events are just around the corner, whatever it is, there's always something to get into. It makes no difference what the activity is whether it be late-night studying, getting a couple of hours of sleep in between classes, or just hanging out in the student center playing a couple of hands of spades. At Kentucky State University, INEVITABLY there's always something happening on and off campus.

hen you join a club or organization you never know what's going to happen. You must learn to EXPECT THE UNEXPECTED!!! There's almost always something that needs to be done. Organizations are great places to meet new and exciting individuals who have the same interests as you do. You can always expect to be met with the unexpected! Organizations on the Kentucky State University campus help foster the community spirit that a small university needs to capture and hold its identity. But one thing's for sure you always can expect the unexpected.

ports take aim in all directions with two common goals; to have a good time and to WIN!!! Players aim for that basket or goal line while fans cheer the team on to victory and have a great time with their friends and family in the stands. The games at Kentucky State University help to bring a sense of community to the campus. Everyone wants to see our teams TAKING AIM to win. They relish the victory and feel the anguish of defeat. Students take aim and hope for the best for our teams who are TAKING AIM everyday with practice, practice, practice.
